

DEFEASE CLOSES CASE

Last of the Evidence in Beall

Murder Trial.

PRAYERS CONSIDERED

WIFE AND SON OF DEFENDANT
ON WITNESS STAND.Testimony Adduced Favorable to Claim of Alibi Made in Andrew

Weedon's Bealf.

The attorneys for Andrew Weedon, on trial for the murder of Rachel Beall, his mother-in-law, closed their case this afternoon. The wife of the defendant, who was put on the stand yesterday, was on the stand again today. In addition to the testimony she gave in her husband's favor, there were statements by neighbors and by Weedon's son, Andrew Weedon, Jr., which go to show that the defendant visited his son on the day of the murder for the purpose of making arrangements for moving into his (the son's) house.

Mrs. Clara Hughes testified that she saw the defendant on the street in front of his house at 10 o'clock on the morning of the day the murder was committed, the same time some of the government's witnesses have testified they saw a man at the back gate of the house where the killing was done.

Mr. Matthew Ireland, who lived next door to the Oelrichs on H street northeast, testified to receiving a call from a woman on the day of the murder, who seemed to think strange that he had not heard pistol shots and screams in the house at the time the murder is supposed to have been committed.

What was regarded as most important of all, the pistol belonging to Weedon, for which the police have looked in vain, was produced in court by the defendant's counsel and offered in evidence, and the cartridges to fit the pistol were produced by Andrew Weedon, Jr., and also offered in evidence. It was brought out that the pistol was in the possession of Andrew Weedon, Jr., from the day of the murder until the opening of the case for the defense at this trial.

A dark overcoat with velvet cuffs was produced in court and identified by Mrs. Weedon as the one worn by her husband on the day of the murder, and was, she said, the only one he possessed. A hat was also produced and identified as that worn by Weedon at that time.

Mrs. Weedon's Testimony.

When Andrew Weedon was brought into court this morning he was accompanied by his wife and two of his children. Mrs. Weedon was placed on the stand and her examination was resumed. The two children, Miss Edna Weedon, sixteen, and Raymond Weedon, seven years old, were given seats beside their father.

In her examination yesterday afternoon Mrs. Weedon corroborated the testimony of the witnesses who testified that she and Weedon in the house at 226 9th street southeast at the time the murder is supposed to have been committed. The witness stated Mrs. Beall had visited her house two weeks before the murder. Mrs. Beall told the witness she was sorry for the Weedons and would like to help them, but had no money with her. The witness declared her stepmother was completely under the influence of Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Bibb.

Witness told of the movements of her husband the day of the murder. He was employed at the government printing office, but did not have to go to work until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He went out of bed by 7:30 o'clock in the morning, his wife said. He left the house at 8 o'clock, but returned shortly after 9 o'clock, accompanied by Deputy Marshal Nash. Witness told of the movements of the Weedons the day of the murder. He was employed at the government printing office, but did not have to go to work until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He went out of bed by 7:30 o'clock in the morning, his wife said. He left the house at 8 o'clock, but returned shortly after 9 o'clock, accompanied by Deputy Marshal Nash.

Witness Cross-Examined.

The defendant's counsel then desired to have the witness identify the overcoat and hat as having been worn by her husband on the day of the murder. But when asked to identify the coat, she was not then in court and the government attorneys proceeded with their cross-examination.

In response to questions from District Attorney Beach Mrs. Weedon said that at the time of the murder the members of her family, living at 226 9th street, included her husband, her daughters, Mary and Edna; her son, Jack; and her mother, Mrs. Ireland. Jack, she said later, was then and is still employed at Scherger's bakery. Her son Andrew, Jr., has a house on O street southwest, with three rooms, and the defendant and his family were preparing to move to the house of this son, where they were to stay temporarily.

The witness told of the renting of the house at 226 9th street by her son, and of Mrs. Bibb's visit to the house later when she found that Mrs. Albin Weedon was the person who had rented the house, and of Mrs. Bibb's attempt to gain possession.

Mr. Beach questioned the witness closely about the house her husband had employed, and brought out the information that the defendant was at home the night before the murder and that they entertained two guests, Mr. Charles Kearney and Scott Hamel, and they passed a very pleasant evening, having some beer and other refreshment. The witness said that the house was not packed that night, but the witness went to work at the packing early the next morning.

Fails to Recognize Detectives.

After rehearsing the story of the movements of the defendant on the day of the murder without deviation from her statements on direct examination, the witness was asked if she knew or had ever seen Detectives Muller and Cornwall, who were brought into court so the witness could identify the house where the murder was committed. Mrs. Weedon denied she had ever seen them before. On being asked if they had not asked her if her husband had a pistol and she had not denied that he did have a pistol, she said she did not remember. The witness identified Policeman Browne as having been in the house when he came to the house and had searched for the pistol.

redirection examination the witness was questioned by counsel as to the number of policemen who visited the house the night following the murder.

Mrs. Weedon having been found, was brought into court with a dark overcoat with velvet cuffs, which Mrs. Weedon identified as having been worn by her husband. A dark brown hat was identified by the witness as the hat worn by her husband.

Mrs. Weedon said it had been her intention to ask her neighbor, Mrs. Clara Hughes, to take her daughter, Edna to live with her and to have her son Jack stay with the Scherger's, while the remainder of the family went to live with Andrew Weedon, Jr.

Corroborative Evidence.

Mrs. Clara Hughes was then placed on the stand. Mrs. Hughes lives at 223 9th street southeast, and Edna Weedon ran errands for her. On the day of the murder Edna brought the flowers and plants to the house of the witness between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning.

The witness did not know the defendant or his wife, but at 10 o'clock the day of the murder she was getting ready to go down town, and she saw the defendant standing in front of his house.

Frank Merrill, a young man who lived at 1000 H street, testified that he had seen Weedon standing at the door of his house at 10 o'clock the morning of the murder.

Attorney Wilton J. Lambert of the firm of Lambert & Baker, was then called to the stand. Mr. Lambert testified to having been employed by Mrs. Bibb on one occasion to recover possession of her two children from her mother, the murdered woman, and on another occasion he was employed by the defendant to secure Mrs. Beall the annuity that had been left to her. The fees of the witness in these two cases amounted to $225. Witness was asked if Mrs. Oelrichs had ever given him $250 and replied that he had not received such a sum as a fee, but he did receive $250 and he had given it to the back gate of his son's house about 11:30 o'clock the day of the murder, and had asked him to take the money to his mother, who lived in the house next door. The witness said he had not heard shots and screams. The woman appeared to think it strange and asked him again and he again replied the negative. The woman was accompanied by a man, who also asked the witness if he had seen the defendant.

The witness said he had seen the man several times during the night in the front of the house next door, and he had been standing at the sidewalk. Oelrichs was brought all of counsel for the defense and identified by the witness. Who also produced the cartridges. The pistol and cartridges were then offered in evidence and the witness testified that she had seen the defendant, who put him through a rigid cross-examination.

It was brought out that three or four days before the murder the witness called to see his mother and she told him about the eviction proceedings and said something to the effect that she had no money. The witness then told that if nothing else could be done she could come to his house. The cross-examination developed that the defendant had called at the home of the witness on O street southwest on the day of the murder and that the witness and defendant had a conference about moving of over an hour's duration some time between 12 and 2 o'clock.

The usual noon recess was taken at this juncture.

With His Father Morning of Murder.

Andrew Weedon, Jr., resumed the stand after the noon recess. He stated that his father was at his house when he came home to dinner shortly after 11 o'clock on the morning of the day of the murder, and that he (the defendant) remained with the witness for an hour and a quarter after he had eaten dinner, leaving the house with him after 1 o'clock. Their conference related to moving. The witness walked as far as the corner of 3d and N streets with the defendant, where they parted.

Witness testified that when he went to his mother's house the evening of the same
